Superintendent of Schools

MR. SYDNEY G. PIERCE

Congratulations and best wishes to the yearbook staff. This project requires a great deal of time and effort over much of the school year. It provides interesting and valuable experience for the students who participate in it. And it provides the school, the students, the faculty and all the staff with a unique record of the life of the school. Without this record some of the essence of school would not be prsserved. I am indeed grateful to you for this service.

Class History

For most of us it all began in 1947, but in 1959 we arrived at the new Nauset Regional High School . . . the first class to be together all the way through Junior and Senior High. Those seventh and eighth grade years were full of such things as lunchroom boycotts, "The Hardship of Wilden Outlandish", wild parties and note-passing.

When we became Freshmen, it seemed as though we were finally on our way. We elected Fred Perreault as President, Brian Ramsdell as Vice President, Pam Harrell and Joanne Leonard as Treasurer.

Remember when . . .

Everyone was enthusiastic about trying out for sports, and we had some huge J.V. teams . . .

A certain Biology class drove its teacher out after only four months of school . . .

We didn't quite make it with our One-Act Play Competition entry, "It's a Small World", despite the efforts of Joe Clump and others . . .

Mrs. Vogel stepped on Chris Brown's sneakered foot with her spike heel and stayed there for a full five minutes . . .

The ever-popular squirt guns were prevalent, as was pitching pennies in the boys' room . . .

The Sophomore year found us electing Dan Joy as President, Fred as Vice President, Tudy as Secretary and Larry Squire as Treasurer.

Remember when . . .

The students in the commercial department rooms got their feet wet due to a few uncontrolled condensers in the Chem lab below . . .

All of the girls had fantastic crushes on Mr. Eck . . .

Dick Hayman read such lines as "Curses! Foiled again!" out of his top hat in "Her Fatal Beauty", our unsuccessful one-act play . . .

We were stuck for a theme, and put on the Sophomore? Dance . . .

In our Junior year, we started to feel that we were pretty big stuff. Leading us to fame that year were Kimball, President; Lorraine, Vice President; Judy, Secretary; and Cindy, Treasurer.

Remember when . . .

We all got our class rings, and everyone suddenly developed itches which required vigorous and prolonged scratching . . .

If you couldn't skip school to go hunting, you quacked in the halls instead . . .

Everyone discovered what lovely voices they had, as we all harmonized with the intercom tone . . .

We finally won the One-Act Play Competition with a stirring performance of "Riders to the Sea".

The Junior Prom, "Gone With The Wind", was a complete success; but the party (or parties) afterwards was something else again . . .

Putting soap in the distilled water was good for a laugh . . .

"The Madwoman of Chaillot" proved what great dramatic talent was present in our class especially, as the play won the Massachusetts Drama Festival . . .

Firecrackers were the current fad, with rear-end collisions running a close second in popularity . . .

Our Senior year—the last stop before we were left to fare for ourselves. We were all determined to make it the best year ever. In the Fall, we elected a fine group of officers to lead us through. Mike Smith was President, Steve King, Vice President; Marc, Secretary; and Judy, Treasurer.

Remember when . . .

Steve stripped off his raccoon coat to reveal a frilly pink nightgown, and then he along with seven other ravishing beauties did the Bunny Hop in the big pep rally . . .

We always had something going on in the Senior Room—clay going on the walls, for instance . . .

The Senior Honor Society was presented with its very own private airplane, the Baby Huey Special . . .

Disappearing ink was all the rage . . .

The halls rang with the cry, "Telly-gram for Cecil!" What did it say . . .

Certain members of the class showed definite signs of regression by wearing kiddie hats . . .

Allen made the All-Star Soccer team for the second year in a row, and later discovered he had hands of steel . . .

Unauthorized coffee breaks downtown were our answer to third period droop . . .

We started new traditions at our Senior Prom, "Camelot"—queens and twenty-foot Christmas trees . . .

The basketball team made both the Principals' and Tech Tournaments, and Marc won the Cape Sportsmanship award . . .

The Senior Trip and Banquet, Baccalaureate, Graduation and The Party marked our farewell . . .

We wish to thank our class advisors, Miss Garfield and Mr. Smith, and all those who helped make these past years so memorable. We leave in the hope that we will long be remembered.

I, Peter Sparrow, leave my asthma to anyone who will take it.

I, Billy Spear, leave my good name to my brother Bob.

I, Larry Squire, leave all pooped out.

I, Mike Sutton, leave one-half ounce of sodium chloride mixed in with a jar of potassium chloride to Mr. Pettengill.

I, Lorraine Taylor, leave nothing; I need everything I have.

I, Debbie Ullman, leave one rogie article for the cellar to Pegeen Parkington.

I, Sherb Valli, leave quietly.

I, Richard VanderMay, leave my ability to bother Mr. James to Gary Joseph.

I, Linda Viprino, leave my golden silence to John Tovrov.

I, Mike Walter, leave all my basketball injuries to Bobby Jones' academy award list.

I, Larry Wilcox, leave my scooter to anyone who wants to freeze on their way to school next year.

I, Eric Winslow, leave all my perfection to John Tovrov.

Class Prophecy

Barbara Adams is now an escape artist in a circus. She taught herself by climbing out of her bedroom window legs first.

John Ambroult, that great do-it-yourselfer, spends most of his time fixing the leaks in his jeep with Bazooka Bubble Gum.

With a cute smile and a bunny tail, Marcia Anderson can be seen in the Nantucket Playboy Club.

Sandy Atwood recently devised a new type of Field study for nurses.

Laurena Baker, combining two professions, is still working at the A&P, while giving a wash and set for five books of Plaid Stamps.

Suzanne Baker, woman of the world, now makes regular trips between her plantation in Honduras and New Orleans—on her grandfather's banana boat.

Sue Banas can now be seen in suburbia, selling Schwinn bicycles door to door.

Buddy Berrio is now the top male model for Sears and Roebuck. You should see him in those B.V.D.'s!

Well, in twenty years, Chris Brown is still going to be seventeen years old. Never gonna grow up, huh?

Dentist Ned Brown, who always displayed a certain uncertainty, finally went overboard. His latest patient's tooth rotted away while he decided whether or not to pull it.

Steve Brown is making music history with Lawrence Welk. He doubles on the Bubble Machine and the Kazoo.

Ann Brueckmann dyed her hair green for Saint Patrick's Day. Poor girl, she didn't realize it was permanent.

Laurie Cardinal has just published her answer to Webster's Dictionary . . . Cardinal's Uncensored.

Sandi Carpenter recently released a new product on the market—wooden fingernail covers. We understand they sell big in the Orient.

Gerry Cestaro has just established a club for ninety pound weaklings on Muscle Beach. More power to ya, Gerry!

We haven't heard from Jane Cole since graduation. Where are you, Jane?

Tom Collins has become a real Beefeater and he lives in Manhattan with his Old Grandad.

Joe Connors' intellectual capacity in the field of math was finally realized at E.T.—that's Eastham Tech.

At the age of ninety-seven, Kimball Coombs is still an Eagle Scout and he lives by the Boy Scout Laws.

Christine Seaman became a headline in the obituary pages as she was bowled over by a stampeding Nancy Cowen who caught the Jan Higgins scent . . . (male!)

Janet Crowell has patented a new Crowell Call . . . Caw! Caw!

We see Cliffy Dalby's name headlining the sports pages. He has finally won the International Demolition Derby. 'Bout time he got paid for being in accidents!

Patsy Daley just wrote a new book on . . . It's great!

Janet Daniels has finally worked her way up to head cosmetic salesgirl for U. Livingston and Company.

Mike David now leads a life of comfort in the true Southern style on his gentleman's farm in Tennessee.

Seaman First Class Wynn Deschamps fell off the poop deck once too often, so he decided he'd go back to pumping gas.

Dorleen Dougherty is with the Arthur Murray Studios, teaching the Frug to Mrs. Murray.

Chris Doughty wanted a bouquet so badly that she swung herself a bridesmaid job and still she missed. Why? Could be her tall lankiness!

John Doyle has turned into a wife-beater. She may be bigger but that doesn't stop you, Tiger!!

Paul Drake was burned on his er . . . uh . . . anyway, he was trying to iron on his pants. Serves you right!

Art Dunsford twisted his tongue doing isometric exercises. Now the poor fellow can only say "Uh!"

We hear Paul Eaton stowed away on a freighter bound for the Virgin Islands.

Chris Ellis, clothes designer, tried to introduce pants for men worn from the neck down—but they choked him.

Elaine Ellis is on Broadway now, playing the difficult role of Tinkerbell in Peter Pan. Watch out for Captain Hook, Elaine!

You can send away to Patty Ellis for free lettered sneakers —what do they say, Patty?

Ted Ellis has become chief technician in charge of stealing Christmas trees . . . after the season's over.

Win Farwell, after striving for many years, finally made it to the White House . . . but the guards wouldn't let him in.

"Hot Spurs" Felt was last seen headed for North Texas—shirt and all.

Last time we saw Sue Ferreira was on television. She was all dressed up and she seemed to be holding some sort of crown.

Jacqui Fickett was doing a commendable job in the Peace Corps until she was carried away by a monkey that happened to be swinging by.

Lately we see F. Finn making a wild scene on the folk stage. Frankly, Finn, we hear you're doing great!!

We notice that Kathy Gallant finally "fell out of her tree."

Jan Gill owns the controlling interest in Kleenex. The hose knows!

Pam Gill got fired from her job as Truant Officer because she was absent so often.

Reliable sources tell us that Andrea Hampton is Down Under, surfin' on the big ones.

Pam Harris, now a policewoman, can be seen brandishing a Billy club.

Pat Harris is now a trim young stewardess for TWA, handing out motion-sickness bags to airsick travellers.

Betsy Hayman has moved off-Cape and we understand she triumphantly thumbed her nose at the Cape when she had crossed the canal.

Richard Hayman recently nosed out Chubby Checker in a twist contest.

Making movie history is Maryann Hendrickson, who, with her curly locks, has immortalized Shirley Temple's old role of Heidi.

Increasing his fame as an editor, Paul Hicks now heads the staff of Playboy. We hear he's got the rabbit habit!

Bruce Higgins, internationally known philanthropist, gives any spare Volkswagen he happens to have to his alma mater.

Dianne Higgins has developed a new super-duper Mixer-upper for the orange drinks at Livingston's. Keeps the hands clean and the customers happy, huh, Di!

Alice Holler now plays piano for the Brewster Boogie Woogies. Those Brewster Boys really swing . . . ah, Hoj!

Tom Hollis has taken a Gallup Poll on who likes who in the Nauset History Department. The winner? Mr. Kelley!

While a senior in college, Tudy Horton found another sophomore to pick on. Will she ever learn?

Down in the Tijuana Jail, ol' Brian Humphrey is lamenting that he ever fit ten people in the front seat of his Chihuahua Coupe on Halloween night.

That lover of lovers, Jay Ilkovich, is now in the U.S. Navy, and we hear he has a girl in every port.

In his old age, Craig Johnston plays chess on Ralston cereal packages. Challenging, huh, Craig!

Kathy (Bozo) Johnston can now be seen entertaining the kiddies at the check-out counter in the First National.

A moment of silence for Dan Joy . . . he just drowned in a paint pot.

Steve has recently been elected King of the Casanovas.

Owner and proprietor of a new garage, Gary Kulesza is reportedly "having a jolly good time".

Now a famous lady wrestler, Mary Grace Landers' secret of success is twirling her opponents in an airplane spin and dashing them to the mat.

Carol Larsen used to wear a smile and a Jantzen. What are you wearing now, Carol?

With a hearty laugh and a slide rule, Janet Leonard teaches Calculus to Australian Aborigines.

Joanne Leonard is a piano-playing madam in New Orleans' House of the Rising Sun.

Paula Lussier recently wrecked her mustard—er, uh, Mustang at Jolly Jack's.

The law finally caught up with Bruce MacFarlane. He robbed Goose Hummock, and realized too late that his snake-proof weren't fuzz-proof, too.

Jill Mayo is in the Supreme Court facing charges of tampering with someone's mail. It must have been quite the letter!

Poor ol' Kenny Mayo got shipped off in a crate of ducks. What's that you say, Ken? Quack, quack?

Linda McCandless can now be seen singing while she paints QUIET signs at the Cape Cod Hospital.

Linda Monzon got kicked out of college. Seems she was harboring ducks in her dorm!

Track star Bruce Murphy has really made a name for himself. He's the chief waterboy for the Olympic Track Team.

Marc Norgeot's ambition to be a wine taster was finally realized, but he had to quit his job because poor little Lorraine couldn't carry him home every night.

Dawn Parkington had to cut off all that long hair. It kept getting caught in her violin, and the resin didn't do it much good.

Ellie Pearson is now a statistician working on the population problem. She's contributing to it, as she has 4.8 children.

Starting his own taxi service, Joe Pellegrino's slogan is "Take 'em or leave 'em!" Oh, well . . .

Last time we saw Judy Pelletier, she was doing some pretty smooth skating at the rink . . . with Rink.

Fred Perreault and Kathy Dunham have established a new funeral parlor—Freddy's Funerals and Kathy's Kaskets, Inc. What a team!

Following in her brother's footsteps, Donna Peterson now chases all the rowdies off of Nauset Beach during the summer.

Latest addition to the Peace Corps, that language whiz Laurel Pierce teaches Sanskrit to the intellectual Mau Maus.

Pat Pierce may be seen cheering on guess-which-side at the Army-Navy games.

Latest dirt on Charlie Poole! He's taken up a life of petty crime . . . yup, he's a pickpocket.

Betty Poor now has her own restaurant and it's very successful. Seems she's an extremely good cook.

Brian Ramsdell is out at Makaha Beach, defying the Laws of Gravity by surfing without a board. Hope your feet aren't ticklish, Brian.

Mao Tse-Tung tells us that Tammy Rice and Uncle Ben discovered they were related while on a Yangtze River sampan.

Jenny Richmond, sexton in hand, navigates the turbulent waters of Arey's Pond with the help of a crew of Brewster Boys.

Stony faced, Cindy Rock tripped on a pebble and hit her head on a boulder in the Granite State. With a name like that we're not surprised!

Jean Rose was arrested for jaywalking in San Francisco. Watch your step, Jean.

We understand Ray Rose drove his Indian off of the Wellfleet Pier, running the quarter mile the wrong way. He made good time, though.

Dave Ryder was Jerry's first customer at the Muscle Beach Body Building Program. Don't overdo it, Dave.

Allen Ryone, who developed hands of steel early in life, recently broke a ref's neck in the Okefenokee Tourney. What ya say, Al? Hoj!!!

Peggy Ryone, who will be remembered for her gracefulness, is now a model—for PF Fliers.

With her super-charged, dual quad Volkswagen, Jane Sawler beat a hot Austin Healey Sprite in the Grand Prix. Nice going, Jane!

When last seen, Shannon Scarry was substituting for the Statue of Liberty while Liberty vacationed. They're about the same height!

Jo-ell Schoonejongen, realizing the difficulty her friends had spelling her name, finally got up the courage to change it. She is now known as Bathsheba Schoonejongen.

Chris Seaman incurred the wrath of the Board of Trustees at the University of New Hampshire when she held another wild pajama party. She filled the entire Field House with rollicking, pajama-clad girls.

Danny Smith, that great hunter, bagged himself a 99-year old aardvark in the Lincoln Park Zoo. How 'bout that!

Known for her gift of gab, Mary Smith has taken over Hedda Hopper's Hollywood column.

Mike Smith is now at Harvard doing graduate work on the basic principles of appazzudikkas. Fascinating, huh, Mike!

Sue Smith has an enviable job—she draws the "What—Me Worry" pictures for Mad Magazine.

John Snow still lives in Wellfleet, and he still holds with the tradition that New Englanders don't waste words.

Judy Sparrow recently appeared on the pages of Mademoiselle as one of the ten best-dressed college girls.

Peter Sparrow is at the County Courthouse with his father. Only difference, Peter has a mop instead of a gavel.

Bill Spear is accompanying a herd of Taylor's cows to the Argentine Pampas. How 'bout that!

Larry Squire is now tri-captain of the International All-Star Wheelchair Basketball Team.

Big game fisherman Mike Sutton reeled in a merman by mistake. How's that again???

Debbie Ullman's acting ability has finally been discovered by a Hollywood producer, who has cast her as Lady Godiva. We hear Trigger is her co-star.

Sherb Valli finds his lonely hours as a Coast Guard patrolman are broken up by chatting with friendly seagulls. Seems he's been able to bridge the language barrier, Squawk!

We see Rich VanderMay riding around lately in a 1956 Rambler. Who are you trying to kid, Rich?

Because she moved so much, Linda Viprino decided to save herself some money. She's now the head of Allied Van Lines.

Accident-prone Mike Walter suffered a severe skull fracture due to an angry tsetse fly.

Finding his niche in life, Larry Wilcox, that great architect, now designs Appalachian outhouses.

Always the perfectionist, Eric Winslow has set a new record for marriages and divorces in his search for the perfect match.
